ACCOMMODATION SUMMARY

Tenure: Freehold

This attractive, double-fronted historic house, parts of which date to early and mid 19th century, has benefited from an extensive programme of refurbishment over recent years, so it is presented in good order throughout, but also retains many period features. The ground floor features a large sitting room, with a handsome framed open fireplace and an attractive window seat. A snug flanks this room with a striking Inglenook fireplace set within the original part of the building, this room could also be used as a formal dining room. To the rear, there is a refitted kitchen/diner, equipped with extensive work surfaces and a large range cooker.

In addition, there is a separate utility room and a downstairs cloakroom. The first floor features a beautifully proportioned main bedroom (formerly 2 rooms) with extensive fitted wardrobes and a large sitting or dressing area, with a well-equipped en suite shower room. In addition, there are two further double bedrooms and a delightful family bathroom, with a free-standing bath, perfectly positioned with views out over open fields.

GARDENS & PARKING

The property is set on a generous plot, extending to just under 1/3 acre, with attractive views over open fields to the rear. To the front, the property is approached through a five-bar gate that leads onto a gravel driveway, providing off-street parking for an extensive number of vehicles. There is also an historic detached building (built 1847) used as a garage, with a first-floor room that could be used as a study or games room. The gardens are mainly set to the front and side of Cedar Lea, and are well stocked with a wide range of plants, including rhododendrons and azaleas, with a lovely mature wisteria. To the side, there is a lawned garden with mature oak trees that in turn lead to the rear of the property and a large paved patio with attractive views across open fields. To the side of the house, there is an ancient well and a further lawned area with flower and shrub borders.
