About the property

What the owner loves:

This house has been a real home for my family and I.

One of the biggest positives has always been the schools. Being in such a strong catchment area for both faith and non-faith primary schools made a huge difference to family life. Knowing good schools were close by brought real peace of mind and made everyday routines feel manageable and familiar.

The transport connections were also valuable. With easy access to several tube lines, getting around London has never felt like a worry. I've always felt reassured that family members could get home easily, whatever the time of day, that really mattered to me when juggling work, school and life.

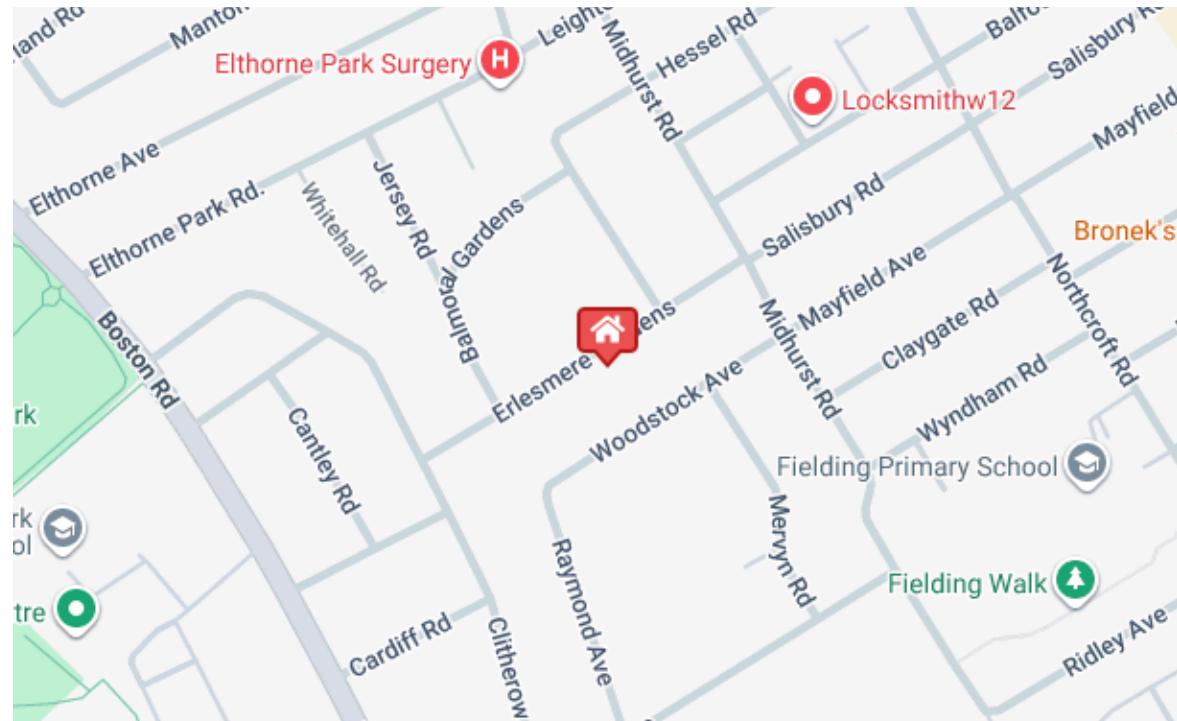

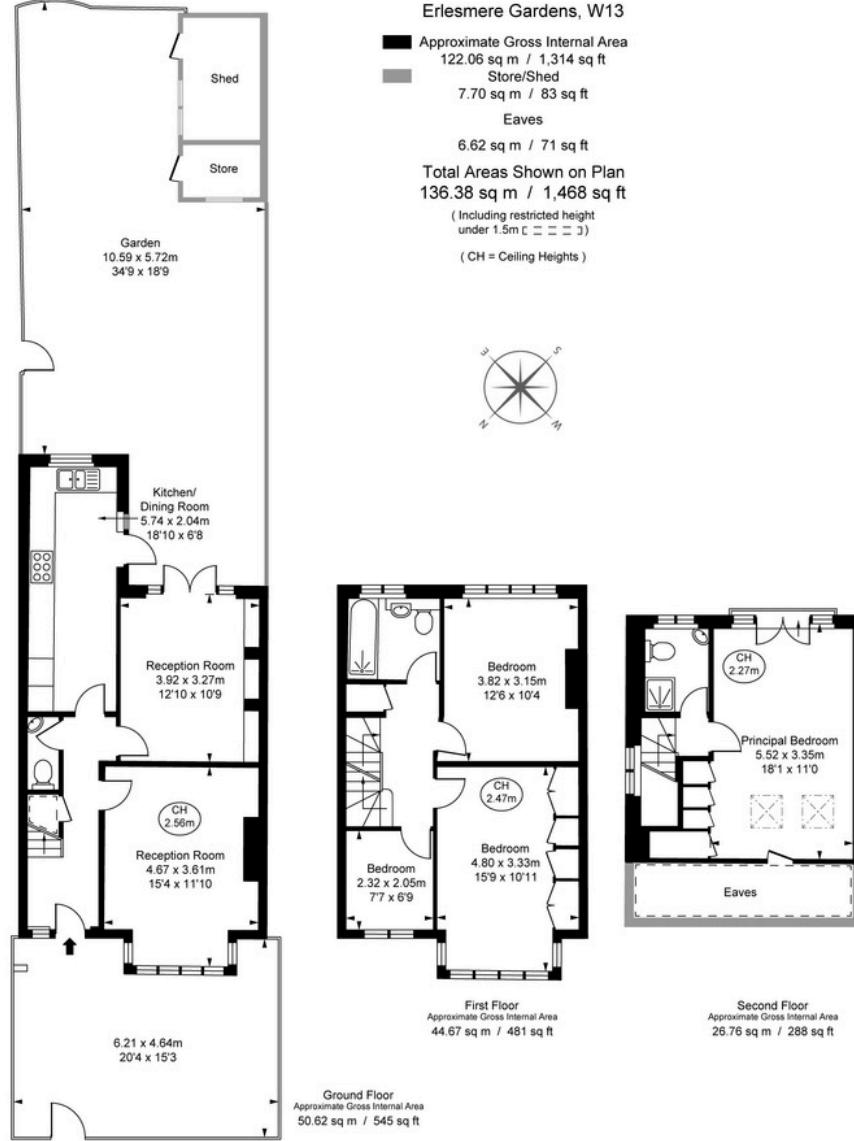

I've always felt safe here. It's the kind of neighbourhood where you feel comfortable walking home, where your children can grow in confidence and where there is a general sense that people look out for one another.
