Some homes simply have a soul. From the moment you cross the threshold of this stunning barn conversion, you sense it - in the warmth of the exposed stone walls, in the aged beauty of the ceiling beams overhead, in the hush of a space that feels both grand and deeply liveable.

This is not just a house. It's a backdrop for a life well lived.

At the heart of the home sits the family dining kitchen - generous, light-filled and genuinely sociable. Whether it's school-night suppers, lazy weekend brunches or evenings that drift long past dinner, this is the room the whole family will gravitate to. And when the sun is out, simply open the doors and let the garden become part of it.

The living room carries its own magic. Anchored by a striking inglenook fireplace with a log-burning stove, it's the kind of room that makes you want to cancel plans - the perfect retreat when autumn arrives and the evenings draw in.

Four generous double bedrooms mean nobody is compromising. Every member of the family gets a proper room to call their own, while the principal bedroom enjoys the quiet luxury of a contemporary ensuite shower room.

Step Outside - The rear garden is something special. Expansive, enclosed and largely laid to lawn, it's a space where children can roam freely while adults linger on the patio or climb to the elevated seating area - glass in hand - to take in those far-reaching views across the valley and rooftops. On a summer's evening, there's truly nowhere else you'd rather be.

Practicality is covered too, with off-road parking and an integral garage to the front.

Rare. Character-Filled. Genuinely Unmissable. Barn conversions of this quality and soul appear on the market only occasionally. If you've been searching for a home with something other properties simply can't manufacture - space, warmth, originality - this is it. Viewing is not just recommended; it's essential!
