

18 Clerks Croft, Bletchingley
Redhill

Guide Price £750,000

Located in the sought-after Clerks Croft development in Bletchingley, this beautifully presented semi-detached family home offers flexible accommodation, currently arranged as three bedrooms but originally designed as a four-bedroom property (the layout could easily be reinstated to its original configuration). Built in the mid-1980s, the home sits within a community renowned for its attractive properties and longstanding residents, many of whom have downsized from larger homes in the area. The property's spacious dual aspect lounge diner is perfect for both relaxing and entertaining, while the adjoining dining room features doors that open to a large stone patio, creating an inviting flow between living spaces. The L-shaped kitchen breakfast room is well-appointed and offers ample space for casual dining, with a separate utility room conveniently accessed from here (created by reducing the size of the integral garage, which still provides valuable storage for bikes and household items). A cloakroom WC completes the ground floor. Upstairs, the impressive master suite extends the full depth of the house, benefitting from dual aspect windows, a fully-fitted dressing area, and an en-suite shower room. This space was formerly two bedrooms and could be divided again to restore the original four-bedroom layout if required. Two further bedrooms are located on this floor, one of which is currently fitted out as a study, making it ideal for those working from home, along with a modern family bathroom. Off-road parking is available for one car, with additional visitor spaces situated within the development for convenience. The location is particularly appealing, being just moments from Bletchingley High Street, where residents can enjoy local amenities including two convenience stores, a tea room, and a welcoming pub (all within easy reach).
