Imagine throwing open the bi-fold doors on a warm summer evening as friends gather around the central island, children drift effortlessly between the garden and the kitchen, and the aroma of dinner fills a space designed for bringing people together. Winter tells a different story, with crackling solid fuel stoves, cosy family movie nights and elegant period rooms offering warmth, character and timeless charm. This is far more than a beautifully renovated house—it's a home designed around making memories. Lovingly transformed whilst retaining its Victorian soul, this exceptional family home perfectly blends original character with contemporary luxury. From the moment you step through the original entrance vestibule with its mosaic tiled floor, period panelling and impressive hallway, there's an unmistakable sense of quality and craftsmanship throughout. The elegant bay-fronted lounge provides a sophisticated retreat for quieter evenings, while the second reception room, complete with an inglenook fireplace and solid fuel stove, creates the perfect snug for relaxing with a book or entertaining friends. Original fireplaces, deep skirting boards, picture rails and decorative corning preserve the home's rich heritage while complementing its modern enhancements. At the heart of the home lies a spectacular open-plan kitchen, dining and family room—undoubtedly the space where everyday life unfolds. Finished with sleek granite worktops, a substantial central island, integrated appliances, twin ovens, warming drawer and breakfast bar, it has been designed for people who love to cook, entertain and spend time together. Velux roof windows flood the room with natural light, while bi-fold doors blur the boundary between indoors and out, extending your living space onto the generous decked terrace. Whether it's family breakfasts, summer celebrations or festive gatherings, this is a room that adapts beautifully to every occasion.

Outside, the landscaped rear garden provides the perfect balance of entertaining and relaxation. The expansive deck offers plenty of room for outdoor dining and evening drinks, while the lawn creates space for children and pets to play. The detached garden room adds another dimension to the lifestyle on offer—ideal as a home office, gym, studio, teenage retreat or peaceful escape from the main house. The first floor offers three generous bedrooms alongside two beautifully appointed shower rooms, making busy family mornings refreshingly stress-free. Above, the impressive loft area provides a superb additional room with endless possibilities—whether as a luxurious principal suite, cinema room, games room, home office or creative studio, it evolves effortlessly as your family's needs change. Perfectly positioned for excellent schools, local amenities and commuter connections, this outstanding Victorian home offers the rare opportunity to enjoy period elegance without compromising on modern family living. Every detail has been thoughtfully considered to create a home where character, comfort and lifestyle come together in perfect harmony.
