Full Description

An attractive and well-proportioned four-bedroom detached house, situated on the popular Spurlands End Road. Originally constructed in the 1930s, the property has been extended over the years and offers generous accommodation, a lovely garden and excellent potential for reconfiguration and further improvement.

As you approach the property, the house has an attractive traditional appearance, with a useful enclosed porch. From here, you enter the spacious hallway, which provides access to the principal ground-floor rooms and creates a natural entrance to the home.

The living room is a comfortable and inviting reception space, offering plenty of scope for family living and relaxation. A separate dining room provides an ideal area for family meals and entertaining, while also offering flexibility for alternative uses. This flows into the conservatory and out onto the garden.

The kitchen provides a practical working space with potential to modernise and reconfigure. The existing layout also benefits from a separate utility room, providing useful additional storage and space for laundry appliances. A convenient ground-floor WC completes the main accommodation on this level.

The property benefits from a good-sized garage, offering valuable storage and parking potential, with further possibilities for those looking to maximise the available space, subject to any necessary permissions.

Upstairs, the property provides four good-sized bedrooms, offering excellent flexibility for family living, guests, working from home or hobbies. The accommodation is complemented by an en-suite to the principal bedroom and family bathroom, providing useful facilities for a growing family.

One of the property's particular attractions is the lovely established garden, providing a private outdoor space with plenty of potential for gardening, entertaining and family enjoyment.
